VoA Special English

Three Elements Make Special English unique. It has a core vocabulary of 1500 words. Most are simple words that describe objects, actions or emotions. Some words are more difficult. They are used for reporting world events and describing discoveries in medicine and science.

Special English writers use short, simple sentences that contain only one idea. They use active voice. They do not use idioms.

Special English broadcasters read at a slower pace, about two-thirds the speed of standard English. This helps people learning English hear each word clearly. It also helps people who are fluent English speakers understand complex subjects.

Prison Diaries

Five inmates, four correctional officers and a judge are given tape recorders. For six months, the diarists kept audio journals and record the sounds and scenes of everyday life behind bars: shakedowns, new inmate arrivals, roll call, monthly family visits, meals at the chow hall, and quiet moments late at night inside a cell.

California Distance Learning Project

Themen: Computers in the Classroom, Teen Drinking, Threatened at School, Looking for a Job, Amusement Parks, Gun Control, Stop Carjacking, Crime, Police Arrest Parents, Smoking Kills, 9,000 Year-Old Man Found, Computer Virus, Save the Forest, Video Games, Bicycle Messengers –

Alle Texte (Dauer etwa 90 Sekunden, teilweise kürzer) werden mit amerikanischem Accent gut verständlich in "angenehmem" Tempo vorgelesen. Daran schließen sich Aufgaben an: Learn new words, Spell the words, Pick an answer, What did you learn?, Write an answer – Einige Texte gibt es in 2 Versionen: Basic Text und Full Text. Manchmal kann ein Video abgespielt werden, das die Originalmeldung im Fernsehen wiedergibt. Von der Länge her unterscheiden sich die beiden Textversionen kaum. Das Vorlestetempo ist in der Full-Version angezogen und die Strukturen entstammen der Originalquelle.
